797 Sangradouro, and the Coração de Jesus colony on the Rio 131 Barreiro, tributary of the Rio das Garças, which is generally designated by the Bororo name Meruri, "place of the rays." [114] I was in these missions in January of 1934. The road from Cuyabá to the first one is about 50 leagues; and from there to Meruri is still about 20 leagues.

133 Sangradouro is located on a height of 625 meters, and Meruri on a height of 470 meters. The observatory of 132 Sangradouro verified, from its founding in the year of 1924, as average temperature, 27°. The maximum took place in /114/ January of 1928, with 38°; the minimum on June 20 of 1933, with -5°. The barometric average in Sangradouro up to now is 715. The observatory of Meruri confirmed as maximum temperature in the year of 1933, on August 26, 37.4°, as minimum of the same year, on June 22, -1.3°.

In Sangradouro the great freeze of June of 1933 nipped 132 the bananas, manioc, sugar cane, tomatoes, coffee, mango, 291 avocado and the buriti, while the plants with thorns, such as orange trees, lemon trees, and the rose bushes did not suffer at all. In Meruri they plant maize, rice, manioc, sugar cane, vineyards, pineapple, and other fruits.

162 In January of 1931, 37 Bororo families, which numbered [161] 185 individuals, lived in Sangradouro. In January of 1934 only 5 families were there, composed of 11 adults and twelve children.

On January 18 of 1934 28 Bororo families lived in Meruri, that is, 32 men, 28 women, 33 children of male sex and 44 children of the female sex, 137 individuals in all.

[131] In the environs of the prospectors' settlement Poxoreu, which arose more or less in 1925 on the west bank of the Rio Poxoreu, at about 54° 20' west longitude and 16° south latitude, and which in May of 1933 numbered 254 houses with 824 inhabitants, there lived among the Brazilians, in [166] January of 1934, 70 Bororo, for the most part men. Fifty [197] of them had emigrated in the /115/ previous year from

162 Sangradouro to there: they told of having come at the in-166 vitation of Padre César, who for eight years had been director 797 of Sangradouro and was transferred to Poxoreu in 1933. The Salesian house, which has existed there since 1932, is administered by a padre and a lay brother; it is, however, only visited by these Bororo when they want to ask for alms or for protection against their white neighbors. The 20 other Bororo of Poxoreu came from the aldeias controlled by the Commissão de Proteção aos Indios.

657 Four of these aldeias are located in the forest of the region
131 of the Rio Vermelho, therefore more or less at 16° 30' south [162] latitude and between 54° and 55° west longitude; and there is another one about 20 leagues to the southwest. According to a statement by an official of the Commissão de Proteção aos Indios, Snr. João Arena, these five aldeias had about 500 inhabitants in 1933.

621 Between Rondonopolis and Lageado, a prospectors' settle-162 ment that arose there around 1920 at 16° 20' south latitude [131] and 53° 50' west longitude and numbering today more than [103] 2,000 inhabitants, is still found a similar Bororo aldeia named Tori-paru (tori means in Bororo: stone, hill, and paru: underneath, at the foot of; therefore, the name of the aldeia means: at the foot of the hill). It is said that the village has existed since 1929, having had 50 inhabitants in 1933. On the thirty-first day of March of 1935 I counted 35 men in the men's house. Some men were absent, hunting. The total number of the inhabitants who lived in the six houses of the aldeia was, including women and children, more than 100.

[241] They live off plantings of manioc, rice, beans, and /116/
[464] papaya /Port. mamão, fruit from a tree called mamoeira/, [131] and, in part, by working on the neighboring plantations. Tori-paru is located about two leagues west of Lageado.

177 The Bororo of these six aldeias are in contact with the [184] Brazilians, but for the most part are less influenced by our civilization than the Indians of Sangradouro and Meruri, although many of the present inhabitants of the aldeias were previously in these missions.
